

Lokanga Boutique Hôtel

After two years of complete restoration, this 1930's townhouse has been reborn as the Lokanga Boutique Hotel. A genuine traditional Malagasy House, all in red bricks, with a balcony with breathtaking views over the city. To recreate the charm of this past era, our charming hotel is entirely furnished with antiques, family souvenirs, old prints and photographs. We invite you to journey back to the early twentieth century!

Lokanga is centrally located, in the heart of an historical area, perched on the royal hill of Antananarivo, a few steps from the Queen's Palace. Take a stroll in this romantic neighbourhood of cobbled streets to admire the ancient houses with nice red bricks, some of which date from 1800's, visit the Museum, the Royal Courthouse...

The business areas of Antaninarenina and Analakely are only 5 minutes by car.

Lokanga Boutique Hotel house faces the west and offers a 180° panoramic view: Anosy Lake, Mahamasina, Tanjombato... After a day in the bustle of Antananarivo, you can relax on terrace with a cup of tea and homemade cookies or a sundowner, enjoying the breathtaking view out over the city and the distant hills. The Lokanga's special at sunset indulges you with foie gras on toast with a glass of white wine. You can also enjoy a cosy evening by the fire in our drawing room.

We offer full buffet breakfast, a Malagasy lunch and an European refined 3 course menu for dinner. Booking is highly recommended and please let us know if you are on a special diet.

The House is non smoking, but guests are welcome to smoke in the garden.

To complete your experience of the early 20th century, don't forget to ask about our tours in our old 1950 Citroen cars!

Lokanga Boutique Hotel offers only 6 comfortable and exclusive rooms, each with breathtaking views over the capital, a desk, a private bathroom, individually styled and decorated with family antiques and full comforts: WIFI, minibar, heating during winter. The two suites have a television set.

Each room has a story to tell:

Ground floor :

Room N°1 (double): « West Indies Room »

Because Madagascar was indeed on the Route to India... The smallest and most affordable of our rooms, gets its name from its saffron and spicy colours, its old iron bed, its ancient Indian cupboard and its African frame. It has direct access to the terrace, overlooking the city. The tadelakt bathroom has a shower.

20 m²

Double bed: 140*190cm

Bathroom with shower, washbasin with mirror, toilet

Direct access to the terrace, on the ground floor, overlooking the west side of the city

First floor :

Suite N°2 (double): « Baroque Suite »

A dazzling room: an italian baroque bed, a marble console with a majestic gilded mirror, golden chairs, all shipped to far away Madagascar from Italy in the 1950 by my parents "just married"! A late 1800's "bureau" and an open bathroom with an ancient cast iron bathtub completes the glamorous picture. This is the room for a romantic stay. It has a direct access to the balcony.

31 m²

Double bed: 170*200cm

Bathroom with a bathtub

Direct access to the balcony

Overlooking the west and the south of the city

This suite communicates with room n°3.

Room N°3 (double): «The Purple colonial room»

This spruce purple room takes its name from the iron canopy bed, covered with a great mosquito-net. An old dressing table serves as a desk, and it also has a large velvet armchair. A few Chinese decoration items, old and a new, remind us that the Chinese migrants have also participated in Madagascar's History, in the early 1900's. It has a direct access to the balcony.

27 m²

Double bed: 160*200

Bathroom with shower

Access to the balcony

Overlooking the west of the city

This room communicates with room n°2.

Room N°4 (double): « The English room »

The English room with its gilded iron bed, its flowered wallpaper and its old writing-desk that belonged to my grand-mother, recall the time when English missionaries lived on this very same hill. In the green bathroom, everything is ancient: the washbasin, the cast iron bathtub and the gilded mirror.

28 m²

Double bed: 140*190

Small vestibule and dressing room

Bathroom with an ancient bathtub

Access to the balcony

Overlooking the west side of the city

Second floor:

Suite N°5: «Rose's room »

This is the most spacious room and offers a drawing room area. It takes its name from the flowered wallpaper and bright fushia wall. Antique furniture made of wood, sometimes weathered. The bathroom, with ancient bathtub too, has a stunning view of the Queen's Palace.

35 m²

Double bed: 160*200

Bathroom with a bathtub, with view of the Queen's Palace

Overlooking the west side of the city

Room N°6: (twin) « The Explorator's room »

The Explorator's room exposes old maps of Madagascar some really inaccurate! It's the only twin room of the hotel, with two carved wooden beds, dating from late 1800's, early 1900 and club chairs. The bathroom with its gilded bathtub is in the tower, under several meters of ceiling.

32 m²

Two single beds

Bathroom with a bathtub

Overlooking the west side of the city

A family can also live in rooms 5 and 6; they will have all the second floor to themselves.

Like in all Malagsay Houses, the stairs to the second floor are quite steep. Thus we disrecommend rooms 5 & 6 for guests having difficulties to walk.
